

EDITORIAL

This volume, number 28, presents scientific contributions dealing with the field of Universal History and related sciences. These latter approach issues belonging to the Ancient world and Modernity. In Articles, the following texts are included:

Given the re-conceptualization and revaluation of the terms Populus Dei and Respublica during the Late Antique. Agustín de Hipona, theoretical support of the new Christian era, by Graciela Gómez Aso;

The image of Justice in the Attic Nights by Aulio Gelio and its subsequent iconological evolution, by Elena Calderón Calderón de Cuervo;

Between legitimacy, revolution and education, by Alejandro Ponce Gálvez Durand;

The Conversion of Volusiano: icon of a change of era, by Amadeo José Tonello.

On the other hand, in Notes, Conferences and Commemorations, a Report on the history of the Institute of Universal History prepared by María Clara Cámpora is added.

Vivana Boch PhD

Director of Revista de Historia Universal