

EDITORIAL

This volume, number 30, presents scientific contributions dealing with the field of Universal History and related sciences. These latter approach issues belonging to the Ancient world and Modernity. In Articles, the following texts are included:

Change of view on disability in Greco-Roman antiquity and Christianity: comparing the discourses made by Plutarch and by the Cappadocian Fathers, by Álvaro Díaz Ruiz;

Constructive and destructive elements in western history, by Giamfranco Solari Sánchez;

Simon Stock and the Island of Saints, by María Elena Cuervo;

On the notion of true philosophy in Augustine of Hipona, by Analía del Valle Manzur

Vivana Boch PhD

Director of Revista de Historia Universal