

EDITORIAL

This volume, number 31, presents scientific contributions dealing with the field of Universal History and related sciences. These latter approach issues belonging to the Ancient world and Modernity. In Articles, the following texts are included:

A Miguel Antonio Caro's Triptych: a comparative historiographical review. Between Spanish Black Legend and fin-de-siècle Catholicism, by Santiago Pérez Zapata

The Virtue: the convergence factor between the iudex perfectus and the ethical-political literature in the Golden Age, by Joan Gabriel Sanjurjo Fiuri.

Formosa as an Example of Private and State Colonization: An Approach through Spatiality and Landscape, by Elian Rodolfo Uzain.

Herodotus and the diet of the ancient Egyptians, by Sabrina Villa.

Vivana Boch PhD

Director of Revista de Historia Universal