

EDITORIAL

This volume, number 32, presents scientific contributions dealing with the field of Universal History and related sciences. These latter approach issues belonging to the Ancient world and Modernity.

In Articles, the following texts are included:

The crime of heroes. About the present relevance of the memory of Dresden's bombing, by Leandro Carbón.

German initiatives in the Southern Cone: The trajectory of the German Transatlantic Electricity Company (1898-1920), by Eduardo Rossa.

Churchill's legacy in British transport: from 20th-century modernization to the post-Brexit crisis, by Roberto Lucas Gabriel Magni Galdeano

The Truth in Agustín from Hipona, by Francisco Cosme Doti Tori

In review:

The war that made the Roman Empire: Antony, Cleopatra, and Octavian at Actium, de B. Strauss (2022), by Francisco Miguel Ortiz Delgado.

Viviana Boch PhD

Director of Revista de Historia Universal